The Toad and the Rose	O Sapo e a Rosa
Once upon a time, there was a very beautiful rose that felt proud knowing she was the most gorgeous in the garden.	Era uma vez uma rosa muito bonita, que se sentia envaidecida ao saber que era a mais linda do jardim.
However, she started noticing that people only observed her from a distance.	Mas começou a perceber que as pessoas somente a observavam de longe.
She eventually realized that next to her, there was always a big toad, and that was the reason why no one ever came close to her.	Acabou se dando conta de que, ao seu lado, sempre havia um sapo grande, e essa era a razão pela qual ninguém se aproximava dela.
Outraged by this discovery, she ordered the toad to leave her side immediately.	Indignada diante da descoberta, ordenou ao sapo que se afastasse dela imediatamente.
The toad, very humbly, said:	O sapo, muito humildemente, disse:
"Very well, if that is what you want..."	"Está bem, se é assim que você quer..."
Some time later, the toad passed by where the rose was and was surprised to see her withered, without leaves or petals.	Algum tempo depois o sapo passou por onde estava a rosa, e se surpreendeu ao vê-la murcha, sem folhas nem pétalas.
Saddened, he asked her:	Penalizado, disse a ela:
"How horrible! What happened to you?"	"Que coisa horrível, o que aconteceu com você?"
The rose answered:	A rosa respondeu:
"Since you left, the ants have been eating me day by day, and now I will never be what I used to be."	"É que, desde que você foi embora, as formigas me comeram dia a dia, e agora nunca voltarei a ser o que era."
The toad replied:	O sapo respondeu:

"When I was around here, I ate all the ants that approached you. That is why you were the most beautiful in the garden..."	"Quando eu estava por aqui, comia todas as formigas que se aproximavam de ti. Por isso é que eras a mais bonita do jardim..."
Moral of the story:	Moral da História:
Many times, we undervalue others because we believe we are superior to them—more "beautiful," of higher value, or that they are useless to us.	Muitas vezes desvalorizamos os outros por crermos que somos superiores a eles, mais "bonitos", de mais valor, ou que eles não nos servem para nada.
God didn't create anyone to be "extra" in this world.	Deus não fez ninguém para "sobrar" neste mundo.
We all have something to learn from others or to teach them, and no one should look down on anyone else.	Todos temos algo a aprender com outros ou a ensinar-lhes, e ninguém deve desvalorizar ninguém.
It may be that one of these people we undervalue is doing us a good that we don't even realize at the moment.	Pode ser que uma destas pessoas, a quem não damos valor, nos faça um bem que nem mesmo nós percebemos no momento.
