I watched my father care for my mother for six years as she slowly succumbed to the ravages of Alzheimer's disease.	Eu assisti meu pai cuidar da minha mãe por seis anos enquanto ela sucumbia lentamente aos estragos da doença de Alzheimer.

wasn't still wearing her own lovely things.	nunca soubesse que não estava mais usando suas próprias coisas adoráveis.
And at her memorial service, the room fragrant with dozens of heavy bouquets of gardenias which were her favorite flower, my stoic father fought to keep his composure as he spoke of his love for the lively, witty, beautiful woman who had spent almost sixty years at his side.	E no serviço memorial dela, com a sala perfumada com dezenas de buquês pesados de gardêneas, que eram suas flores favoritas, meu pai estoico lutou para manter a compostura enquanto falava de seu amor pela mulher animada, espirituosa e bonita que havia passado quase sessenta anos ao seu lado.
He called their time together a privilege, and recounted as though it had happened yesterday the first time he ever spoke with her, on a staircase at their university.	Ele chamou o tempo que passaram juntos de um privilégio e recontou como se tivesse acontecido ontem a primeira vez que falou com ela, em uma escadaria da universidade em que estudavam.
The manifestation of my father's commitment and devotion to my mother in those unimaginably difficult years is the bravest thing I have ever witnessed.	A manifestação do compromisso e devoção do meu pai à minha mãe naqueles anos inimaginavelmente difíceis é a coisa mais corajosa que já testemunhei.
